

Roman Drewniak is an associate attorney at the personal injury law firm of Abels & Annes, P.C. Roman focuses on all areas of personal injury, with his main focus in the areas of auto accidents, premise liability, and medical malpractice. He speaks fluent Polish and is dedicating his career to helping personal injury victims.

Roman was born in Breszko, Poland and moved to Chicago at the age of four. Growing up he attended Lane Tech College Preparatory High School as well as St. Maximilian Marian Kolbe Polish School. Roman went to undergrad at DePaul University with a degree in Political Science and a minor in Sociology. As a senior at DePaul, Roman began working as a law clerk at an insurance defense law firm in Chicago. There he gained valuable experience in the legal system, specifically with regards to medical malpractice cases.

Roman attended law school at Loyola University College of Law on a merit scholarship. He was part of the first class to attend the weekend JD program, which allowed him to continue working full time while simultaneously completing his Juris Doctor degree.

Outside of his work as an attorney, Roman lives in downtown Chicago with his wife Gabrielle, who is an optometrist, and their charismatic corgi, Stanley. They are both members of Old St. Patrick's Church, where they were married in 2019. He is an active volunteer of the Amicus Poloniae Legal Clinic. As a first-generation American, he feels a strong desire to give back to the community and knows he is extremely lucky to be in a position to help others on a daily basis.
